Mr. McNicol is a Dept of Foreign Affairs and Trade Officer seconded to the National Security College in July 2011. He served in diplomatic missions in India, Iraq and the UAE with the quadripartite Peace Monitoring Group as the Deputy Chief Negotiator; and served as the special advisor to the Special Operations Task Group in Afghanistan. During 2008-10 he was the Director of the counter-terrorism international training program before being seconded to the Dept of the Prime Minister and Cabinet as a senior advisor on border protection policy. Prior to his diplomatic career Chris was a commissioned officer in the Australian Army and served with the UN in Israel and Syria. Chris McNicol was awarded the Public Service Medal in 2004 for duties in Iraq.

GUEST SPEAKER MR. CHRISTOPHER McNicol

“THE LAST FULL MEASURE”

About this subject: The nature of warfare and the experience of Australians in it, has changed dramatically since the 25th April 1915. For instance, some argue that the age of heroic warfare has ended now that our soldiers are killed by improvised explosive devices (or ‘IED’s) buried in the ground and not by our enemy’s bayonets, and we kill our targets via missile firing drones flown by pilots sitting at desks hundreds and sometimes thousands of miles away. It is true that ‘remote control’ war is here, what does that mean for the ANZAC Tradition? My talk will offer some personal insights and opinions drawn from the battlefields of Afghanistan and Iraq 2002 – 2010
